

Core API

Register Service

A Server may support optimized access to the nodes in its address space. To register a node for optimized node access you have to request the optimization using the register service. The resulting alternative node identifier enables the optimized node access. Do not forget to unregister a once registered node (using the alternative node identifier).

- OpcRegisterNode
- OpcRegisterNodeCollection

Table of Contents

Register Service	1
-------------------------------	---